NSSL PRICE DROP

Satellite communications service provider NSSL has officially launched a higher quality voice service to land and sea clients. This will be a welcome development for organisations and industries that rely on consistently reliable communications, such as the mining, media, medical and military sectors. The service, known as 'premium voice', provides a guaranteed quality voice service through the terrestrial network as opposed to the internet. The service is available to NSSL CruiseIP and BroadIP customers. Calls cost US $0.25 per minute to the US or customers can buy an all inclusive package of $500 for unlimited calls.
